Parks of Australian Cities.
Australians, with a fine climate, believe in enjoying themselves, and there are plenty of facilities. Thus in Sydney there are parks and squares and public gardens with a total area of 4,335 acres. Sixteen miles from the city—a shilling excursion train fare—is the picturesque national park, containing 36,810 acres preserved in their natural state. A similar reserve called Kurin-gal Chase, comprising 35,300 acres of land, chiefly of densely wooded hills skirting for many miles around numerous tidal arms of Broken bay, is also held for the enjoyment of the public forever. Melbourne has no fewer than 5,400 acres of recreation grounds in or near the city. Adelaide is surrounded by a belt of park lands and has about 2,300 acres set apart for the public benefit. Nor are Perth and Hobart and Brisbane and some of the fine inland towns less well provided for.—Westminster Gazette.

slay Race Not Dying Out.
There is a very common idea that the Malay is a race that is dying out, killed in its own country by the enterprise of Chinese, Tamils, Javanese (who, however, are kinsmen of the Malays) and Europeans. To those who come out east expecting to find a few miserable remains of a once powerful race, whose probable fate is that of the Australian aborigines, it comes as a revelation to find a sturdy, independent and courteous race, whose language runs from Suez to Australia and who, so far from dying out, are yearly becoming more numerous.—Java Times.

Bored No More.
"Tom," said the famous M. P., "I used to be pestered to death by a bore. My secretary was a good natured, obliging chap, and he could never find it in his heart to turn the bore away. Just as sure as I was in the bore was certain to be admitted."

"One day, after an hour's martyrdom at the man's hands, I determined to end that persecution. So I called my secretary and said to him mysteriously: 'Parton, do you know what makes Smith come here so regularly?'"

"No, sir," said Parton, "I can't say I do."

"Well, Parton," said I, "I don't mind telling you in confidence that he's after your job."

"From that day," concluded the M. P., "I saw no more of the bore."—London Scraps.

A Choice of Calves.
The difficulties the early Virginian colonists had with their live stock is curiously illustrated by the fact that in the colony of Massachusetts Bay a red calf was cheaper than a black one, experience having shown that the former was more likely to be attacked by wolves owing, it was thought, to the wolves mistaking it for a deer.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

Events of the World Boiled Down for the Busy Man to Read at a Glance.

Thirty persons are held at Galveston awaiting deportation Saturday on the Frankfurt.

A Republican state conference has been called to meet in San Antonio February 22, 23 and 24.

Rain, snow and sleet fell over portions of North and Central Texas, the snow melting as it fell.

The governor plans to clear the county jails of the insane by building annexes to the state asylum.

One was killed and a second injured at Corpus Christi through the bursting of a fast revolving grindstone.

Carlton Sweeney was killed in the home of S. T. Lockard at Groveton, being taken for a burglar by the latter.

Mrs. Fay Hurd Jones was acquitted of the charge of killing her husband, Nat B. Jones, Sr., in the trial at San Antonio.

The death watch was placed over John Rubio, under sentence of death Friday, February 18, at Beaumont for criminal assault.

No hope was extended for a settlement of the strike of the linemen of the Panhandle Telegraph and Telephone company at Amarillo.

Sam Grant was found guilty of the murder of an aged man by the name of Grant at Eastland, the jury assessing punishment at death.

J. W. Fenn, who owns a ranch near Duke, and Pete Gano, a Mexican cow driver, were fired on from ambush by an unidentified person near that place.

Two votes were added to Percy's total for the preceding day at Jackson, Miss., placing him only 17 votes behind Vardaman in the senatorial race.

Dr. B. C. Hyde, was arrested at Kansas City on a charge of killing Colonel Thomas H. Swope, the Missouri millionaire, being later released under $50,000 bond.

A Bad Start.
"Ever try this keep-a-smiling proposition?"
"Tried it once, but with poor success. Unfortunately I started the experiment on a day that the boss felt grouchy."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FOOD FERMENTING
CAUSES INDIGESTION.

"I got a box of Mi-na tablets for a distress in my stomach, and the first dose relieved me, and after I took the fourth I have not felt any more of it. I think it is a wonderful medicine."—Hiram Shultz, Watseka, Ill., July 27, 1909.

If your stomach is out of order or distressed, no matter from what cause, Mi-na stomach tablets will give instant relief, and if taken regularly, will cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back.

Every sufferer from stomach trouble, gas, belching, sour stomach, nervousness, dizziness, and biliousness, should get a fifty cent box of Mi-na stomach tablets today and start a treatment.

In three days' time the stomach and bowels will be thoroughly purified, cleaned and renovated, the sourness will go, and pure, sweet breath will take the place of foul breath.

Continue the treatment for two weeks and the stomach will become so strong that it will be able to digest the heartiest meal without distress. A few Mi-na tablets will do this. Sold by druggists everywhere and by E. J. Jenkins.

On a Sailing Vessel.
Instead of the usual routine work on a steamer—paint washing and so forth—the work on a sailing ship varies widely. It may be making or shortening sail, bending or unbending line or heavy weather canvas, squaring in or bracing up the yards, tacking or wearing ship, and, no matter what the labor, one always had the satisfaction of seeing the result. The speed and sailing qualities of a vessel were things that could be discussed with interest as well as the length of passage. In bad weather, when excitement ran high and cursing was considered quite in order, struggling up aloft with wet or frozen canvas—one hand for the ship and the other for yourself—on a dark, dirty night put a man on his mettle, and should the foresail be handled or the main topsail settled and the cry of "Splice the main brace!" be heard—well, one felt at peace with the world. In the tropics catching sharks, harpooning dolphins and porpoises, singing, dancing, telling yarns and reading over old love letters are diversions not easily forgotten by those who have experienced them. Being becalmed in the tropics on a beautiful moonlight night brought home to one the beauties and wonders of nature and the existence of a God with whom one felt in closer touch on such nights as those. —A British Marine Officer in Atlantic.

Slightly Acquainted.
As an instance of the "marrying in haste" principle that obtains in some American cities an English lady who visited Chicago relates how her maid, who accompanied her, quickly became imbued with the desire to become Mrs. Somebody.

One morning she appeared before her mistress and, with glowing eyes, announced that she had named the day and would become a wife at the end of the week.

"Are you going back home, then?" the lady asked.

"Oh, no, ma'am; it's an American gentleman," replied the maid.

"But," remonstrated her mistress, "we've only been here a fortnight."

"That's no matter. He wants the wedding to be on Saturday."

"Well, can't you get him to postpone the marriage just a little till I can get another maid?"

"Well, ma'am, I'd like to oblige you; but, you see, I don't feel well enough acquainted to ask him to do that."—London Answers.

Great Forests.
Canada owns a forest larger in area than the whole of England, Scotland and Wales all put together. The greatest length of Britain is 908 miles, and its greatest width 325 miles, while a Canadian forest in the Hudson bay and Labrador region is 1,000 by 1,700 miles in extent. Another big forest stretches from Alaska to Washington state. The Amazon basin, South America, comprises about 2,100 by 1,300 miles of forest, while Central Africa has a forest region 3,000 miles from north to south and of unknown width from east to west, and the pine, larch and cedar forests of Siberia are 3,000 by 1,000 miles in extent.

Life at the Pole.
Life at the pole is a perpetual battle with nature, in which man is often worsted. "He was frozen to death" is the end of many biographies. While a man is in health they speak of him as "stronger than death," as if death were a watchful enemy always waiting for his chance. But life is on a large scale up there. Instead of the petty alternations of night and day they have the great seasonal succession, and, whether they are waiting for the long light of summer or the long dark of winter, they enjoy a keen delight in the prospect of a change such as we can never know in the tamer arrangements of our climate. The long dark does not keep them wholly inactive. We read of expeditions after bear and hunting on the ice by torchlight, but in the main their winter is given up to story telling, conversation and contemplation.

Pope as a Witness.
Pope, like Garrick, made but a poor figure in the witness box. He was cited to appear in defense of Bishop Atterbury when that prelate was tried for high treason in the house of lords in 1722. "I never could speak in public," he told someone afterward, "and I don't believe that if it was a set thing I could give an account of any story to twelve friends together, though I could tell it to any three of them with a great deal of pleasure. When I was to appear for the bishop of Rochester in his trial, though I had but two words to say and that on a plain point (the bishop spent his time when I was with him at Brinsford), I made two or three blunders in it and that notwithstanding the first row of logs (which was all I could see) were mostly of my acquaintance."—London Standard.

The Lost Company.
"Hungry, I suppose?" said the sharp faced woman as she opened the door just a little bit.

"Why, no," answered the ragged wayfarer. "I've clean forgot how to be hungry. But I'm out and out lonely."

"Lonely?"
"Yes. You see, I hadn't had nothing to eat for so long that I've got so thin I can't cast no shadow, and you ain't no idea what company a man's shadow is to him while he is travelling along the road."

Considerate.
Muggins is not handsome, and he knows it. When his first baby was born he asked, "Does it look like me?" Of course they replied in the affirmative. "Well," said he, with a sigh, "break it to my wife gently."—London Tit-Bits.

A CHEMIST'S OPINION ON SKIN DISEASES.

Mr. M. H. James, the chemist and druggist, says that in all his scientific and business experience he has never found any remedy so successful as ZEMO for the treatment of Eczema, Itching Skin Diseases, Dandruff, Pimples, Blackheads, and all diseases of the scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A wonderful improvement over the old greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that cause the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Mr. M. H. James will gladly supply those who call, with a free sample bottle of ZEMO, and a booklet which explains in simple language all about Skin Diseases and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Bryan Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved. In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Bryan who so testified years ago now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Bryan kidney sufferers.

Mrs. E. B. Roberts, Moseley, Street, Bryan, Texas, says: "A year ago I gave a testimonial in which I told of the benefits I had derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly renew that statement now, realizing that so many persons are in need of a reliable kidney remedy. For sixteen years I was a victim of kidney complaint and at times I had slight attacks of rheumatism become stiff and painful. My kidneys were also disordered and the passages of the secretion were irregular. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I obtained a box from Emmel & Maloney's drug store and they entirely relieved me. I have since enjoyed excellent health and have no trouble whatever from my kidneys or back."
